

KULLU VALLEY

Venue and Location

The Himalayan Sensation Seminar will be held at the historic, 500-year-old Naggar Castle, in the charming village of Naggar, halfway between Kullu and Manali. The castle is now a Heritage Hotel, perched high above the Vyaas River, with breathtaking views of lush terraced fields and snow-capped mountain peaks. The village, nestled in a pine forest dotted with apple orchards, was the home of Russian artist Nicholas Roerich. The seminar hall will be in the Roerich Gallery. A variety of trails offer relaxing walks in this scenic venue.

A well-known tourist destination, the area offers a variety of cultural and historic sites, such as Naggar Castle, Tibetan monasteries, the Vaashishth hot baths, the Hadimba Temple and more. You might like to plan a trek in the mountains or a tour of the cultural and historic sites of the area after the seminar. The local people are friendly and welcoming.

The key to consistent results is a deeper understanding of disease and cure, as also the development of methods of case-taking and analysis that reflect this deeper understanding. — Dr. Rajan Sankaran

Himalayan Sensation

HOMEOPATHIC SEMINAR
APRIL 7-16, 2009
An Interactive Seminar using the Sensation Method

An opportunity to participate with
Dr. Jayesh Shah and Dr. Dinesh Chauhan who will demonstrate the Sensation Method through live cases.

You are invited to join this special event in Kullu Valley in the Indian Himalayas. This interactive program will enhance your knowledge of the Sensation Method.

The Sensation Method is the most exciting advance in Homeopathy in recent years. It is an ingenious, complete system based not on theory, but on the case-taker's perception of what is in the patient. Participants in programs on the Sensation Method have found that the application of what they learn brings increased success to their practice and healing to their patients.

Dr. Jayesh Shah

Dr. Jayesh Shah is known for his dedication, sharp skills and precision in taking cases. His many years of experience are evident in his prescriptions, which range from polychrests to very rare remedies. His cases resound with the persistence and patience with which he recognizes the deepest experiences in a person. Through his profound and gripping lectures, he conveys step by step the methodology of reaching this core, the point where there are no doubts about the prescription. It is no wonder that he is extremely popular internationally as a teacher. He has recently done extensive work on the Mineral Kingdom.

Dr. Dinesh Chauhan

Dr. Dinesh Chauhan is a renowned Homeopath, popular in Mumbai and abroad for his lectures and insight into the art of case-taking and case analysis. He has been a visiting lecturer at the Virar Homeopathic Medical College, Mumbai, a panelist at the School of Classical Homeopathy (with Dr. Rajan Sankaran) and lecturer in courses organized by Homeopathic Research and Charities. He has presented seminars in Denmark, Belgium, Korea and South Africa, and he conducts intensive courses at the School of Homeopathy in Osaka, Japan. One of his greatest skills is explaining homeopathic theory, particularly the Sensation approach, through video and live cases.

Rebecca Williams, P.D. Hom.

Rebecca Williams, the host of the Himalayan Sensation Seminar, attended the Homeopathic Research and Charities seminars for five years while actively conducting her practice. "I have found that the Sensation Method, like meditation, reaches a person's essence, the core-note. When something is fundamentally true, the pieces of the puzzle fit together and reveal an undisputed picture. It has helped me immensely in my practice. I deeply appreciate the HRC teachers for their work, bringing clarity to homeopathy. I am delighted to invite Dr. Jayesh Shah and Dr. Dinesh Chauhan to the Himalayan Sensation."
